

Ayako Kobayashi Director

She studied art and fashion at Tokyo kasei university.

Upon graduation, she worked in a public high school as a teacher of home economics for 6 years.

At the professional high school of home economics, she directed the fashion show of the cultural festival.

At the same time, she started taking portrait photographs.

In 2014, She changed her work and traveled to the various countries with her camera.

After career change, she has learned video editing from the film director, Yosuke Hosoi.

Since then, she has been making travel programs, TV commercial, Web commercial, and music videos.

What she wants to capture is the person's real character, which can be seen only in the close relationship.