

Wadaiko DUO TERUHI

Japanese drums TARO & RIO

Wadaiko DUO Teruhi started in 2019.
We are performing all over Japan.

Percussion instruments that have been passed down from ancient times in Japan are famous.

It is called Wadaiko.

It used to be a tool used for prayers and signals at shrines and festivals.

In modern times, the Japanese drum has become a familiar instrument that many people can play.

While studying the old days, we are making a lot of new performances.

I also made a lot of collaborative works.

The simple sound of "DON" touches the hearts of many people, and the large vibrations vibrate the body.

In Japan, there is a meaning that the sound blows away bad things from the body.

It was also used in ancient warfare as an instrument to inspire soldiers.

I named it teruhi because I want to convey the heart and soul of Japan to the world, and make Japan shine, while cherishing such thoughts.
