Yukari Araki

Accessories, daily necessities, toys, and any other items around us that were once something, that reflect someone's thoughts and ideas, or that have traveled from place to place over time become lovely and interesting materials. These materials are gathered together, reconstructed, and reworked into works of art that seem to be in dialogue with the objects and spaces they inhabit. As for my technique, I work mainly with assemblage.

Born in Mie Prefecture in 1983
2005 Graduated from Nagoya University of Arts, Faculty of Fine Arts
2006 Completed the research student
